REACH Compliance

European Union has put into force a set of regulations known as REACH. These REACH processes are designed to provide additional information on chemicals, to ensure their safe use and to ensure competitiveness of the European industry. Under the obligations of REACH regulation, companies are to provide consumers with information on hazardous substances in their products.

Corey Steel Company's products do not contain any of the items included in the European Parliament and Council Regulation (EC) No 1907/2006, article 33 and the amended catalog of 8 new Substances of Very High Concern ("SVHC") listed on the Candidate List of Substances of Very High Concern for Authorization website, below, dated Jan 17, 2022, with the exception of lead, which may exceed the 0.1% by weight maximum in some steel grades:
